The twenties

The world discovers a new method of immediate and far-reaching communication: the radio.

1924

FIRST STEPS

Enthralled by radio broadcasting, François and Marcel Anen install a radiotelephone transmitter in the attic of their house, 28, Rue Beaumont in Luxembourg, in autumn 1923 and start their first experiments.

APRIL 1924

FROM AMATEUR RADIO TO BROADCASTING

In April 1924, the Anen brothers take the step from amateur radio to broadcasting, sending out a regular programme from Luxembourg, playing mainly music records.

JULY 1925

BECOMING PROFESSIONAL

The Anen brothers create the Association Radio Luxembourg to run the station.

1926

ENTERTAINING

The station broadcasts records, sports results on Saturdays, and live concerts performed by an orchestra from their attic studio, as well as from outside. The first presenters speak mainly Luxembourgish, but also German, French and English. The transmitter's power is boosted to 150W.

In France, the Bokanowski decree aims to strengthen the state monopoly in broadcasting. It authorises the existing private commercial radio stations only until 1 January 1933 – by this date they will come under the guardianship of the state. Owners of such radio stations, like Radio Paris and Radio Toulouse, start looking for new opportunities outside France. Some turn towards Luxembourg.

A NEW ANTENNA

The Association Radio Luxembourg is granted a subsidy by the Luxembourgish state to install a new antenna.

1928

INCREASING POWER

The transmitter's power is boosted to 250W.

The same year, François Anen accepts the outgoing 3kW transmitter from Radio Toulouse to use in Luxembourg.

A French–Luxembourgish study syndicate is created, with the aim of installing a powerful radio station in Luxembourg. Named Blue Star Radio, it is represented by the Luxembourgish sports journalist, Alphonse Steinès, and has the financial support of the Banque française et hollando-américaine.

1929

TWO MORE COMPANIES

The same aim is pursued by two more companies created in 1929:

On 27 May, the Société Luxembourgeoise d'Études Radiophoniques (SLER), led by the French Compagnie des Compteurs, is officialised.

29 July, sees the officialisation of the Compagnie Nationale de Radiodiffusion Luxembourgeoise (CNRL), led by Jacques Trémoulet, Head of Radio Toulouse. The CNRL – in which the Anen station has been integrated, and which was given the frequency of 223m by the Prague Plan in January – starts building a transmitter site in Cessange (Kohlenberg) and begins broadcasting under the name Radio Luxembourg.

François Anen is involved in both companies.

19 DECEMBER 1929

NEW LAW

The first Luxembourgish law regulating radio broadcasting is published on 19 December. The law states that any radio station has to be authorised by the head of the Postes et Télégraphes administration.

The thirties

CLR (Compagnie Luxembourgeoise de Radiodiffusion) is born. The company becomes a European pioneer by broadcasting a unique programme in several languages using the same frequency.

JANUARY 1930

STOP OF BROADCAST

In January the CNRL is ordered by the Luxembourgish authorities to stop broadcasting Radio Luxembourg.

29 SEPTEMBER 1930

EXCLUSIVE LICENCE

The SLER obtains the exclusive licence for radio broadcasting from the Luxembourg Government. A 25-year concession agreement is signed on 29 September.

30 MAY 1931

FOUNDING THE CLR

The members of the SLER found the Compagnie Luxembourgeoise de Radiodiffusion (CLR). The main shareholders are CSF, Agence Havas (both already associated in Radio Paris), I&P, Banque de Paris et des Pays-Bas, Compagnie des Compteurs and the Banque Industrielle Belge.

The headquarters of the CLR are established at 53, Avenue Monterey. François Anen joins the technical service (studios) of the new company.

7 OCTOBER 1931

UNDER CONSTRUCTION

The construction of the transmitter site in Junglinster begins.

29 AUGUST 1932

VILLA LOUVIGNY

Part of the Villa Louvigny – built on a 17th century fort located in the heart of Luxembourg – is rented as headquarters for all radio activities except transmission.

15 MARCH 1933

FIRST REGULAR LONG WAVE BROADCAST

After an experimental programme, Radio Luxembourg makes its first regular long wave broadcast on 15 March in French and German, from the Villa Louvigny's studios, using the most modern and powerful (150kW) transmitter in Europe situated in Junglinster.

15 JULY 1933

AN ORCHESTRA...

The newly founded orchestra plays its first concert under the direction of Henri Pensis. This will become the famous Orchestre Symphonique de Radio Luxembourg.

3 DECEMBER 1933

ENGLISH PROGRAMMES

English programmes start on 3 December, broadcasting simultaneously during a week from Radio Paris and Radio Luxembourg, and finally transferred permanently to Luxembourg, and finally transferred permanently to Luxembourg. The international and multilingual programme is a huge success in Germany, Great Britain, France and Belgium, and astonishes CLR's competitors.

3 JULY 1934

LIVE FROM THE TOUR DE FRANCE

Radio Luxembourg broadcasts live from the Tour de France for the first time.

1936

ARRIVING IN PARIS

A French administrative headquarter of Radio Luxembourg is set up, at 22 Rue Bayard in Paris.

29 JUNE 1937

VILLA LOUVIGNY

Following the ongoing success of Radio Luxembourg, CLR buys the Villa Louvigny and extends the premises.

MAY 1938

THE LUXEMBOURG LISTENER

From May 1938 to September 1939 a De Havilland Dragon airplane christened 'The Luxembourg Listener' (Olley Air Service) makes a twice weekly return trip from Croydon to Esch-sur-Alzette carrying taped programmes, records and passengers.

2 SEPTEMBER 1939

ON THE EVE OF WAR...

The Luxembourg Government, concerned about maintaining Luxembourg's neutrality, asks CLR to stop broadcasting – a decision already considered by the company's management. Regular programmes cease on 2 September, and broadcasting is limited to official government communiques and music. Less than three weeks later, on 21 September, operations are closed down.

The forties

War time. The Nazis use the installations of the radio station from 1940 to 1944, then the Allies take over. Radio Luxembourg begins broadcasting again in November 1945.

10 MAY 1940

NAZI INVASION

On the day of the Nazi invasion, Radio Luxembourg installations are among the first objectives of the Wehrmacht in the Grand Duchy. Four weeks later, German troops restart the station, using it for their communication until October 1940, when the transmitter is incorporated into the Reichs-Rundfunk-Gesellschaft and used for Nazi propaganda.

10 SEPTEMBER 1944

LIBERATION

American troops liberate the country. After an agreement between the Luxembourgish Government in exile and the United States, the transmitter, which has been damaged by the German army, is made available to the Psychological Warfare Division (PWD) of SHAEF (Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Forces). The PWD was an Anglo-American organisation that used radio broadcasting to undermine German soldiers' morale.

JULY 1945

A BITTER RETURN

The Office of War Information begins to use the station in July, handing over the installations to the CLR on 11 November. The return to the Villa Louvigny is a bitter disappointment for rehired staff, as most equipment has been destroyed and the Villa Louvigny plundered by the Nazis.

12 NOVEMBER 1945

“BONJOUR LE MONDE...”

Radio Luxembourg begins broadcasting again on 12 November 1945, with the famous words: “Bonjour le Monde, ici Radio Luxembourg.”

1947

LES AMIS DE RADIO-LUXEMBOURG

An association of Radio Luxembourg admirers in France – Les Amis de Radio-Luxembourg – is born.

The fifties

The use of a medium wave transmitter contributes to the spectacular development of radio and the beginning of CLR's audiovisual adventure: CLR becomes CLT.

15 JANUARY 1951

NEW MEDIUM WAVE TRANSMITTER

CLR's new medium wave transmitter in Junglinster is inaugurated.

Radio Luxembourg transfers its English programme to medium wave 208. 'Two-O-Eight' becomes a new reference for young Britons. Part of the broadcasting on medium wave is also occupied by a programme in Dutch and Luxembourgish. The success of Radio Luxembourg grows day by day.

1952

A STUDIO IN LONDON

A studio is installed at 38 Hertford Street in London.

18 MAY 1953

ALAS LEONI DEDIT

The 'new' Villa Louvigny is inaugurated. The winged lion with the motto 'Alas Leoni dedit' ('It gave wings to the lion') decorates the front of the building.

1 JULY 1954

A NEW ERA OF BROADCASTING

The management of CLR enters into a new era of broadcasting: television. On 1 July, CLR becomes CLT (Compagnie Luxembourgeoise de Télédiffusion) and begins the construction of a TV transmitter and studio in Dudelange.

23 JANUARY 1955

TÉLÉ LUXEMBOURG

Télé Luxembourg – a TV channel in French – broadcasts its first experimental programme on 23 January from Dudelange within North-East France, Luxembourg and South Belgium.

14 MAY 1955

INAUGURATION AND REGULAR BROADCASTING

Regular broadcasting begins on 14 May, day on which the installations are officially inaugurated in Dudelange.

14 DECEMBER 1956

A BETTER RECEPTION

The 350kW medium wave transmitter – relocated from Junglinster to Marnach to provide a better reception in England and Scandinavia – goes into service.

15 JULY 1957

GERMAN RADIO

A radio programme in German is reintroduced on medium wave 208. The programme is to become a phenomenal success. Years later, it will be renamed RTL – Der Oldie Sender, and will specialise in an 'oldies' format. Today, we know it as RTL Radio, Deutschlands Hit-Radio.

Télé Luxembourg is now entirely broadcast from the Villa Louvigny.

19 OCTOBER 1959

EXTENSION

The radio programme in Luxembourgish is extended, and transferred from medium wave to short wave 92.5. Today's RTL Radio Lëtzebuerg is born.

The sixties

Increasing the power of its long and medium wave transmitters, Radio Luxembourg - which now bears the name RTL – becomes one of the most powerful private radio broadcasters in the world.

1960

CONNECTION CUT

After a live interview with the Algerian leader, Ferhat Abbas, broadcast by Radio Luxembourg, the cable connecting Paris to Luxembourg is cut for two hours by the French Minister of Information.

APRIL 1965

BECOMING FRENCH?

The French state plans to acquire part of the capital of the CLT through the government-owned SOFIRAD (Société financière de radiodiffusion). The plan is abandoned due to opposition from the Luxembourgish Government.

11 OCTOBER 1966

RTL

Radio Luxembourg in France is rebranded RTL.

21 SEPTEMBER 1969

HEI ELEI KUCK ELEI

A new TV programme in Luxembourgish is born. The two-hour mixed programming show – Hei Elei Kuck Elei – broadcast every Sunday, is the predecessor of today's RTL Télé Lëtzebuerg.

The seventies

The seventies witness the birth of colour television. Télé Luxembourg goes from strength to strength, following its radio sister's footsteps.

15 OCTOBER 1972

NOW IN COLOUR

Télé Luxembourg makes its first colour broadcast. The success of the channel increases in North-East France and the South of Belgium.

19 OCTOBER 1972

BEIDWEILER

Powerful long wave transmitters go in service in Beidweiler. The transmitters in Junglinster are used as back up.

APRIL 1973

AUDIOFINA

The holding Compagnie luxembourgeoise pour l'Audio-Visuel et la Finance, Audiofina, is formed on the basis of CLT shares. Audiofina, after several transactions, holds in the year 1974 up to 54.63 per cent of CLT's capital, becoming the driving force of the company.

4 DECEMBER 1975

RTL PRODUCTIONS

RTL Productions – a Luxembourg-based production company – is created.

1979

TÉLÉ STAR

CLT buys the French TV magazine Télé Star – created in 1976 – in which it already held parts since 1977, marking the company's entry into the publishing business.

The eighties

Deregulation begins across Europe, and European countries open their doors to private TV and radio. CLT moves closer to its audiences, setting up subsidiaries in the main European countries.

31 JULY 1981

SAD DAY

A Belgian military jet crashes into the TV antenna in Dudelange killing three people.

RTL Télé Luxembourg is allowed direct access to the Belgian cable network.

JANUARY 1982

RTL TÉLÉVISION

RTL Télé Luxembourg is renamed RTL Télévision.

2 JANUARY 1984

RTL PLUS

The commercial TV channel RTL Plus is launched in partnership with UFA, a Bertelsmann company (today RTL Television, and market leader in Germany). On 2 January, the TV channel RTL Plus begins broadcasting a German programme from Luxembourg. The programme bears the slogan 'RTL Plus – the refreshingly different programme' ('Das erfrischend andere Programm'), and a new RTL Plus logo.

MARCH 1987

M6

The TV channel M6 is launched in France.

CLT initially owns a 25 per cent stake in M6, which becomes a publicly listed company in September 1994.

Since February 2004, RTL Group has been recognised as the principal shareholder in Groupe M6 by the French media regulator, CSA, owning a 48.5 per cent economic interest.

12 SEPTEMBER 1987

RTL-TVI

RTL-TVI is launched in Belgium.

1 SEPTEMBER 1989

ATLANTIC 252

Atlantic 252 – a radio station in English – is launched in Ireland.

2 OCTOBER 1989

ENTERING THE DUTCH MARKET

The Netherlands sees the launch of RTL Véronique (renamed RTL 4 in 1990) – a TV channel in the Dutch language.

The nineties

CLT continues to expand into new countries, setting up a complementary network of TV channels and radio stations and thus beginning to create families of channels. At the end of the nineties, the merger of CLT and UFA creates the leading European broadcaster and production house, and is a turning point in CLT's history: CLT-UFA is the European Entertainment Enterprise.

1991

NEW STARTS AND END OF A LEGEND

The new building at Kirchberg is inaugurated: it will become the Group's administrative and radio headquarters. TV activities remain in the now legendary Villa Louvigny.

Radio Luxembourg, the medium wave programme that contributed to the reputation of CLT in Europe – particularly the UK – for many decades, stops broadcasting on medium wave. This eventually leads to the shut-down of the station, though CLT is still present in the UK via Atlantic 252.

After the acquisition of a stake in Radio Contact in 1990, CLT launches the radio stations Bel RTL in Belgium and 104.6 RTL in Germany.

21 OCTOBER 1991

DAILY LUXEMBOURGISH PROGRAMME

RTL Hei Elei, a daily evening programme in Luxembourgish, offers news and magazines to the Grand Duchy. On 25 September 1995 it is replaced by the programme Eng Stonn fir Lëtzebuerg which marks the start of today's RTL Télé Lëtzebuerg.

1993

NEW CHANNELS

The TV channel Vox is launched in Germany on 25 January.

The TV channels RTL II in Germany (6 March) and RTL 5 in the Netherlands (2 October) are launched.

The company acquires a stake in Fun Radio, a French music radio station.

1995

FURTHER EXPANSION

RTL 2 – previously M40 – a French music radio station is launched 18 January.

Club RTL in Belgium (22 February) and Super RTL in Germany (28 April) – a joint venture with Disney – are launched.

Dutch-language radio and TV station, Veronica, is launched 1 September. The channel – based in Hilversum – is to become Yorin and Yorin FM in 2001.

1996

MOVING FORWARD

Following an agreement between CLT and the Luxembourgish Government, the Orchestre Symphonique de RTL becomes the official state orchestra, and is renamed Orchestre Philharmonique du Luxembourg.

The opening ceremony for a second building at Kirchberg – the new TV centre – takes place. Television and radio are brought together on one site, and the Villa Louvigny is sold.

TV and radio stations in the Netherlands are united under a single organisation, HMG (renamed RTL Nederland in 2004).

1996

NEW VENTURES

Téva, a digital thematic channel, is launched in France (6 October).

RTL7 is launched in Poland on 7 December. This new TV channel in Polish – based in Warsaw and Luxembourg – is sold in 2001, due to its limited technical reach.

TPS, a new digital pay-TV offering, is launched in France (16 December). Plans for a similar offering in Germany – to be named Club RTL – are cancelled due to uncertainties surrounding technical stands and the high costs of broadcasting rights. Market conditions for TPS appear to be more favourable. CLT holds 20 per cent of TPS (which is subsequently sold to Suez Lyonnaise des Eaux and M6 in 1998).

Following the sale of Groupe Télé Star to EMAP, the Group decides to withdraw from the publishing business to focus on its strengths: television and radio.

13 JANUARY 1997

CLT-UFA

CLT-UFA is created. Bertelsmann, shareholder of UFA, and Audiofina, shareholder of CLT, merge their TV, radio and production businesses to create Europe's leading commercial TV, radio and production company. The new company combines the strengths of CLT – a leader in pan-European broadcasting, and creator of the RTL brand – with the historic UFA, a major player in broadcasting, production and rights.

As a result of the merger, CLT-UFA significantly reinforces its position in Germany, and becomes the major shareholder in RTL Television and RTL II.

30 MARCH 1997

CHANNEL 5

Channel 5, in which the CLT-UFA holds 29 per cent, is launched in the UK – the UK's only purely advertising-based terrestrial channel – subsequently becomes Five in 2002.

AUGUST 1997

THE MERGER

Following the merger, CLT-UFA's priority is to realise potential for synergies and to create new links between the various divisions and companies. CLT and UFA bring together their fiction rights to form CLT-UFA International. The newly created UFA Sports – Europe's leading sports rights company – provides the TV channels with sports coverage. At the same time, channels start to share their knowledge.

27 OCTOBER 1997

RTL KLUB

RTL Klub is launched in Hungary.

24 DECEMBER 1997

HAVAS INTERMÉDIATION

The company purchases Havas Intermédiation, a French company with subsidiaries across Europe, mostly operating under the IP ('Information & Publicité') name. IP sells advertising space for CLT-UFA's radio stations and TV channels. In 1998, IP's national companies are integrated in the respective national stations and channels.

1998

REJECTION

The EU Commission rejects the planned pay-TV merger of Premiere and DF1 (Kirch Group). The deal was designed to develop pay-TV in Germany through a restructured Premiere. In 1999, CLT-UFA sells its 45 per cent stake in Premiere to Kirch Group, and focuses on free-to-air TV.

26 APRIL 1999

FOOTBALL

Groupe M6 becomes the main shareholder of the French football club FC Girondins de Bordeaux.

The new century

CLT-UFA becomes RTL Group, the leading pan-European broadcasting and production company, and aims to increase stakes in its channels wherever possible.

2000

INCREASING STAKES

CLT-UFA increases its stakes in Vox and Channel 5.

APRIL 2000

RTL GROUP IS FORMED

The merger of CLT-UFA and Pearson Television – a London-based content production company – creates Europe's leading integrated broadcaster and content provider: RTL Group. RTL Group is listed on the London, Brussels and Luxembourg stock exchanges. The merger significantly reinforces RTL Group's position in the content business. Pearson Group's stakes in Antena 3 – a Spanish TV channel – and in Channel 5 are brought into RTL Group as part of the merger.

JULY 2001

BERTELSMANN

Following a share swap with GBL – in which GBL exchanged its 30 per cent stake in RTL Group for a 25 per cent stake in Bertelsmann AG – Bertelsmann becomes majority shareholder of RTL Group. On 11 May, the European Commission approved RTL Group's new shareholding structure. Bertelsmann now holds a 67 per cent majority in RTL Group.

2001

RESHUFFLE

RTL Group, Canal Plus Group and Groupe Jean-Claude Darmon sign an agreement to merge their sports rights activities, creating Sportfive, the leading sports rights company.

RTL Group retreats from the UK radio market and the Polish TV market, selling Atlantic 252 to Teamtalk, and RTL 7 to ITI Group.

Pearson Television is rebranded FremantleMedia on 20 August.

In December, Bertelsmann enters into an agreement with Pearson, to acquire Pearson's 22 per cent stake in RTL Group.

FEBRUARY 2002

IDOLS

The final of the FremantleMedia production Pop Idol wins a huge UK audience, inspiring the start of a successful international roll-out of the Idols format.

AUGUST 2002

ACQUISITIONS IN GERMANY

RTL Group acquires German news channel N-TV, plus various holdings in German radio stations from Holtzbrinck, including Radio NRW, Antenne Mecklenburg-Vorpommern, Antenne Thüringen, BB Radio, Antenne Niedersachsen, and Radio Brocken.

DECEMBER 2002

DELISTING

RTL Group delists from the London Stock Exchange but remains listed on the Brussels and Luxembourg stock exchanges.

MARCH 2003

NEW CEO

Gerhard Zeiler is appointed CEO of RTL Group.

1 JUNE 2003

RTL FM

HMG is awarded a frequency for a new radio station, RTL FM, and improved coverage for Yorin FM.

2004

FURTHER EXPANSION

In January, M6 acquires Paris Première, a pay-TV channel based in Paris.

The Belgian family of RTL channels is expanded, with the launch of Plug TV (renamed Plug RTL in 2008) in February.

In April, RTL Group launches the Croatian TV channel RTL Televizija, increasing the company's presence in Eastern Europe.

RTL Group sells its interest in Sportfive in June and completes a new transaction with Advent International. Funds managed by Advent International and RTL Group are used to form a new company that purchases the shares in Sportfive that were formerly held by RTL Group and Canal Plus Group. RTL Group holds a 25 per cent share of this new company. RTL Group acquires an 11.6 per cent holding in Grupo Media Capital – a leading Portuguese television and media company – through the free-to-air broadcaster TVI.

23 JANUARY 2005

50 YEARS OF TV

RTL Group celebrates the 50th anniversary of television broadcasts from Luxembourg.

31 MARCH 2005

W9

M6 Group launches the free digital terrestrial channel, W9.

OCTOBER 2005

ENTERING THE RUSSIAN MARKET

RTL Group acquires a 30 per cent shareholding in the Russian TV network, Ren TV.

2006

MORE CHANNELS

In the UK, Five launches two new digital thematic channels – Five Life and Five US. Meanwhile, in Germany, RTL Television launches RTL Crime, RTL Living, and Passion (a joint venture with UFA).

RTL Group sells its stake in the sports and marketing company Sportfive.

2007

NEW ACTIVITIES

RTL Group sells its entire shareholding in the Portuguese media company, Grupo Media Capital, to Grupo Prisa.

RTL Nederland launches on 18 August the family's fourth free-TV channel, RTL 8.

The asset deal between RTL Group and John de Mol's Talpa Media Holding – which brought Radio 538 into the Group – is closed in October.

RTL Radio in France launches the digital radio station RTL L'Équipe on 7 October.

2008

NEW VENTURES

RTL Group acquires 66.6 per cent of Alpha Media Group in Greece.

RTL Group and FremantleMedia jointly launch UFA Cinema, and re-establish the marketing agency UFA Sports.

RTL Interactive acquires a 49 per cent stake in the internet platform Wer-kennt-wen.de, and sells RTL Shop to Aurelius.

Groupe M6 acquires Cyréal Group and launches Girondins TV.
